OFFICIAL ENTRY FORM

Welcome to the Annual Industry Awards!

All companies and service providers domestic and abroad are eligible to submit an award packet. There are no entry fees as this is open to all companies globally and unbiasedly.

The concept for offering four specific category awards in the Annual Gaming & Hospitality Industry Award series is to recognize companies for the specific core competency they bring to operators; each category is incredibly important in our industry. Of course, the significance of the awards are the executives comprised within the G&L Board and Roundtable Colleagues that define the awards, create the rigorous award process, analyze the nominations and select the recipients. These judges are the top innovation leaders in our industry, they represent the vast majority of all gaming technology spend in North America and we're excited to host the annual industry awards and continuously humbled to be a part of the amazing industry thought leaders within the G&L Community.

G&L's Board and Roundtable Colleagues not only consider the technical product, but the company that produces the product and their service level and performance. There are 4 specific award categories:

Innovation Award: Given to the product and corresponding company that demonstrates the best original thinking in solving one or more business problems.

Transformation Award: Given to the product and corresponding company that most dramatically has changed the gaming or hospitality industry's technology landscape in the area of interoperability.

Partner Award: Given to the company that best illustrates a granular understanding of the real problems facing their clients and have taken the steps within their offerings to demonstrate they are the appropriate solutions for today and for tomorrow.

Platinum Award: This highest honor award level will be given to the company who best exemplifies all three of the individual categories above.

Although there are four award categories, there is only this one entry form. Only one entry form is required as judges will consider your entry form for all four categories. Each company may win one award. If you are a company with multiple and different offerings, you may submit an entry form per product from your company.

The award recipients will be honored at the G&L Roundtable in the fall in Las Vegas; always the Monday evening before G2E. The award recipients will be authorized to display the official award logo, will be featured in the G&L Roundtable winter edition of Gaming & Leisure Magazine, and will be bestowed with all of the rights and privileges that will be provided to them upon winning.

We wish each of you the very best toward becoming an award recipient this year.

All the best, Jeannie Caruso

Complete award eligibility terms and guidelines and recipient honors are available at the end of this packet.

Those in attendance represent a vast majority of gaming and hospitality domestic technology and services spend.

A FEW WORDS FROM THE G&L AWARDS HOST JEANNIE CARUSO, CEO of GAMING & LEISURE

The Gaming & Leisure organization is honored and proud to host the Annual Gaming & Hospitality Industry Awards allowing all companies globally who enter to be fairly evaluated by the buying constituency without cost. We feel not having to 'pay to play' is a key and critical ingredient to ensure all companies have an equal opportunity to enter. The significance and uniquity of the Annual Industry Awards are the creators and judges comprised within the G&L Board and Roundtable colleagues. This distinguished panel, encompassing property owners and operators in the gaming and hospitality industry represent a vast majority of gaming technology and services spend in North America, define the awards, create the rigorous review process, analyze the entrants and select the recipients. The sound and unbiased methodology employed ensures all companies are evaluated fairly and most importantly by the buying constituency. Even if a company finds they are not an award recipient, there is incredible value in having their company granularly reviewed by nearly their entire client base and potential client base. Good luck to all of you!
